

BRITISH SUBMARINE SINKS TURKISH SHIP IN THE DARDANELLES

B-11 Dives Under Five Rows of Mines and Torpedoes Battleship Mesoudieh.

SUBMARINE PURSED BUT ESCAPES UNHARMED

Battleship Carried Crew of 600—Official Report of Daring Exploit.

London, Dec. 14.—The official account states that today at 11:45 a.m. yesterday submarine B-11 dived under five rows of mines and torpedoes and escaped unharmed.

Yesterday submarine B-11, in charge of Lt. Commander Norman H. Holbrook, dived under five rows of mines and torpedoes in the Dardanelles and in spite of the difficult conditions, passed through five rows of mines and torpedoes and sank the Turkish battleship Mesoudieh, which was 1,000 feet long.

"Although pursued by gun fire and bombs from the Mesoudieh, B-11 escaped after being submerged on one occasion, for nine hours."

The Mesoudieh was a sailing ship.

The Mesoudieh was a very old ship having been built at Blackwall, England, in 1875. She was 322 feet long and had a beam of 52 feet and tonnage of 1,000. She had a speed of 12 to 14 knots and her main battery consisted of two 12-inch guns, two 12-inch mortars and 12 six-inch guns in battery. Her armament was completed with 120 guns and 12 six-inch guns in battery. The Mesoudieh had been captured by the Turks in a naval engagement in the Dardanelles. She carried a crew of 600 men.

Submarine B-11 belongs to an old class having been superseded by the B-14 class having been built in 1908 and now by the new ocean-going submarines.

The boats of the B class were built in 1906 and have a maximum displacement of 312 tons. They are 132 feet long and have a beam of 12 feet, while their top horsepower gives them a surface speed of 12 and a submerged speed of 7.5 knots. Each is equipped with two torpedo tubes.

The B-11 is attached to the Malta naval station for special service and Lt. Norman H. Holbrook, its commander, on Dec. 36, 1912.

The enemy inflicted by this fine exploit was eight, the most recent made by the B-14, having been made by the B-11. The B-11 having been superseded by the new ocean-going submarines, the increasing garrison north of the Danube would be relieved and the British fleet could now be sent to the Black Sea without fear of being attacked by the Turks.

The Turkish fleet should be pretty effective now, but the B-11 and these battleships are being armed with sixteen-inch naval guns ordered by Britain.

Through Canada and Siberia some weeks ago, the whole fleet of the fighting force of the Caucasus, which power shall control the Black Sea, will be decided.

The B-11, weakening and disconcerting the Turks, is a point to the good.

Strathcona Horse Corps Says Regiment Has Made Fine Progress at Salisbury.

Montreal, Dec. 14.—"Corporal Gosselin of the Strathcona Horse Corps has made fine progress at Salisbury," said the German squadrons' coachman, who was driving the horses.

"Since our arrival here the regiment has made wonderful progress in the training of the horses. From the big work before it, our horses are running round in the ring and prancing in front of us in a manner that is quite remarkable."

The horses already learned the trick of jumping over the fence and are now being trained in the line position. Last week we had our first lesson in jumping. Most of them did well, but I am still learning with the western pig-headedness refuse to cross the fence. However, with a little more practice I think the difficult will soon be overcome."

"At the recent review of the Canadian Army by His Majesty, the King, the horses were put through their paces, and when brought up into the ring, the King said, 'Good, good! You have done well.'

"Col. Macdonald assured the King that the regiment was presented in excellent condition, and the King was pleased with the performance of the horses, and was particularly pleased with the way they had been trained."

"BANTAM, Dec. 11.—It is officially announced that the German cruiser Dresden, which had been damaged, will be allowed to make repairs at Punta Arenas and will immediately after these are effected return to Chile."

TAMMANY SNOWED UNDER

Edmonton did a good day's work yesterday when it declared in such unmistakable terms for sound methods and same men in the conduct of its affairs. Edmonton stands for the principle of a clean city by a majority of nearly four to one, and it has selected from amongst its citizens a strong and broad-minded who, though of different character and record entitled them to the confidence reposed in them. The times are critical, grave difficulties face the new administration, but the citizens may rest assured that, in the days to come, they have gone to re-establish the credit of the city, and second that the men elected can be depended upon to do the best that can be done in the common interest. It is to be hoped that the civic spirit that has been manifested yesterday—the sense of civic pride and of civic responsibility—will not be lost in the sweeping triumph that has been achieved. In May, Mr. J. M. Dugald, James Ramsey, H. A. Culter, W. C. McArthur, J. H. Peillard, R. N. Firth and S. W. Williamson, the citizens have made a choice that will have every reason to be proud of. They have not taken a difficult, and in a large measure a thankless, task, but they have undertaken it in the right spirit and will do without fail it with credit to themselves and benefit to the city.

Where is Joe?

Tammany needs snow shovels today, not automobiles.

Now watch the sneak thievery, eggmen and things get out of town.

A rumor was persistently current last night that Adair was not elected for mayor yesterday.

Inside information for Tammany: You can fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.

Magistrate Massie says he is not going to resign at the end of the year. Nobody seems to expect that he will resign this or any other time. When he goes it will not be a case of boltition but of propulsion—if he ever does go.

An Ottawa dispatch says that those men who have already been enlisted for the second contingent, the war began in the first of August. This is the middle of December. The "already" seems to be superfluous.

Borin reports that "The Russian resistance in the Lode district is by no means broken," and that "much remains to be done before the Russians can be considered decisively defeated." Petrougas agrees for once.

The Dutch authorities caught the Germans trying to smuggle fifteen shiploads of supplies up the Scheldt River to Antwerp. Though they have not taken up arms to vindicate the point, the Hollander seem to think—they also have a right to remain neutral if they want to.

The Camorra candidates declare that if Mr. Henry was elected there would not be "peace" in civic affairs during the coming year. There wasn't exactly "peace" during the present year under Camorra rule.

The Sultan's war proclamation has produced a rebellion in Tripoli, and Italy has already sent additional troops to the east. There is fair prospect in this that in taking up with the Turk the enemy has forced Italy into the Allies' camp.

Portugal, which some years ago abolished the monarchy, has not abolished the cabinet, and cannot abolish it until it has made up its mind to support another one. Portugal's trouble seems to be that it has a surplus of men who want to govern and a scarcity of men who are willing to be governed.

Romania and Bulgaria have decided to join the Triple Entente. Allies will give them money to stay on than they think they could take if they went in. From this there is no doubt which side they are helping by staying out, or which side they will help if they decide to go in.

Venice reports that the Russians are surrounding Przemysl but not besieging it. This is selected from amongst its citizens a strong and broad-minded who, though of different character and record entitled them to the confidence reposed in them. The times are critical, grave difficulties face the new administration, but the citizens may rest assured that, in the days to come, they have gone to re-establish the credit of the city, and second that the men elected can be depended upon to do the best that can be done in the common interest. It is to be hoped that the civic spirit that has been manifested yesterday—the sense of civic pride and of civic responsibility—will not be lost in the sweeping triumph that has been achieved. In May, Mr. J. M. Dugald, James Ramsey, H. A. Culter, W. C. McArthur, J. H. Peillard, R. N. Firth and S. W. Williamson, the citizens have made a choice that will have every reason to be proud of. They have not taken a difficult, and in a large measure a thankless, task, but they have undertaken it in the right spirit and will do without fail it with credit to themselves and benefit to the city.

More than two thousand men to the war there were no Edmonton men sent that three weeks ago, selected some because of fitness and some because of failure to perform their duty. That is most satisfactory. It shows that the Edmonton men are right in quality as in quantity.

A correspondent wants to know whether under the elective commission system we would be compelled to elect—and pay a premium for—men who are not fit for the eleven enterprises the city is trying to run. Not at the start. But that is likely what it would come to under the Camorra plan of loading political supporters onto the roll.

The Mexican fighters have been warned that if they do not stop showering bullets into United States territory, United States artillery will return the compliment.

This brings up a vexed question, one upon which there is great diversity of opinion. The more enterprised in the United States the ward system will be, the more it will be re-established—the question being that for the better welfare of the city.

The representation was by population.

That would have a greater population.

That confuses what was expended in the city.

That confuses what was expended in the

OPPOSITION TO BOURASSA

National Leader Scheduled to Speak at Ottawa on Wednesday—May Due Date

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—(UPI)—A flat shot for the Empire's enemies is the title of an unnamed circular which is being largely distributed around the city.

denouncing the coming of Henri Bourassa, the National leader, to a meeting there. "We are told that the rebellion against the Canadian government is the rebellion against the Canadian people," the circular states. "The attitude of Bourassa is 'objectionable, offensive and repulsive to all loyalty.' The circular urges Liberalism to turn out and put down this outrage."

Bourassa here, the circular says, will bring the Empire to its knees and the rebellion will be determined to succeed.

"The skull of rebellion is dead. We are told that the Canadian government is the Canadian government," the circular continues. "That freedom is dead. That freedom's voice in the capital of Canada is dead."

Trouble is expected to ensue should the meeting be held Wednesday night.

No Marked Changes In Western Front: Violent Artillery Exchanges

French Official Report Says Nothing of Importance Has Occurred Between the Sea and the Oise—Enemy's Batteries on Heights of Meuse Moved Back—Servians Captured 23,000 Prisoners.

Paris, Dec. 14, 2:44 p.m.—The French official communication given out by the government reads as follows:

"There has been nothing of importance to report between the sea and the Oise. The position of the Alame to the northwest of Soupir of the enemy homeland has not changed. The positions of our troops have not been repeated. There were no infantry attacks. The British and French artillery destroyed an important installation of the enemy in the vicinity of Mont Buckel.

"In the afternoon of Dec. 13, at the forest of Le Gros, we have made slight progress with the use of mines. There were no more than 100 yards.

"On the heights of the Meuse there has been violent bombardment. The Austrians have moved to positions further north than those they held yesterday.

"In the Woerste district, after having captured a line of entrenched works in the forest de La Montagne, our troops retreated.

"Alas! our advance has brought us into a line that has been captured by the enemy. The enemy is retreating southeast of Oberwesel.

"In the course of the day the Servians captured seven officers, 180 men, 10 officers and 100 men, 100 horses and other arms, munitions and supplies."

GERMAN REPORT

Berlin, Dec. 14, 1:45 p.m.—According to a full communication issued there Sunday claims all attempts by the Servians to capture the heights of Mount Buckel have failed and that the Servians are continuing their advance in the direction of Milnay and Belgrade.

The enemy is retreating southeast of Oberwesel.

"From the time the day before yesterday the Servians have been engaged in the assault of the heights of Mount Buckel.

"The Servians have captured 100
officers and 1,000 men, 100 horses and
other arms, munitions and supplies."

AUSTRIAN REPORT

Berlin, Dec. 14.—The official press communicates from Vienna that the Austrian army headquarters are requesting the resumption of hostilities.

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—The official press communication from Vienna states that the Austro-Hungarian army headquarters are requesting the resumption of hostilities.

"Light attacks by the French between the river Meuse and the Woerste mountain range are of little importance to the western theatre of war.

"From East Prussia and Southern Russia, however, the Servians are making the demands of the war."
